

COMMON GROUND

Startup Café

featuring Alex King

CEO of Common Ground Publishing

Startup Café is a luncheon series to highlight tech entrepreneurs that have lead their companies and created successes. Entrepreneurs share their story and provide insights on success and what they wish they had known before starting.

About the Speaker: Alex King is CEO of Common Ground Publishing where he leads the company's efforts in creating revolutionary software for scholarly journals and knowledge communities. Common Ground is a publisher of books and journals, hosts international conferences, and creates places for intellectual interaction. Alex previously worked for 15 years at Sun Microsystems and at Solidware Technologies up to and after their acquisition by Coverity, Inc.
