

Startup Café

featuring Brian Jurczyk
President of Starfire Industries

Startup Café is a luncheon series to highlight tech entrepreneurs that have led their companies and created successes. Entrepreneurs share their story and provide insights on success and what they wish they had known before starting.

About the Speaker: Brian Jurczyk is President of Starfire Industries, which he began after completing his PhD from UIUC College of Engineering in 2001. He also received an MBA degree, MS, and BS degree from the University of Illinois and continues to work as an adjunct faculty member. Starfire has worked with the US Army, US Air Force, NASA, Department of Energy and Homeland Security, and large corporations on plasma-related projects, including their flagship technology on fusion neutron generation for industrial radiography and NDE/NDT materials inspection. In July 2009, Starfire graduated from EnterpriseWorks into 5,000 SF new custom space at the Research Park.
